

Emulator download archives

This page provides an archive of Emulator releases. Please review the license file (https://cs.android.com/android/platform/superproject/+/master:prebuilts/android-emulator/NOTICE) in the emulator package for licensing information.

For the best experience, please review the Emulator system requirements (/studio/run/emulator#requirements).

How to manually install a select version of emulator

To manually install a select version of emulator on Studio, you need to paste the desired emulator package contents into your SDK installation directory, and change the emulator version specified in the `package.xml` file. Specifically, follow these steps:

1. Locate your SDK installation directory. The default location of this directory varies by platform:
 - On Windows, it's the `%LocalAppData%\Android\Sdk` directory. This normally expands to `C:\Users\<username>\AppData\Local\Android\Sdk`, although it might vary based on your system.
 - On macOS, it's the `$HOME/Library/Android/sdk` directory.
 - On Linux, it's the `$HOME/Android/Sdk` directory.

You can check where your SDK installation directory is by opening Studio and clicking Android Studio > Preferences > Appearances & Behavior > System Settings > Android SDK. The Android SDK Location file path is your SDK installation directory location.

If you're using macOS and browsing using Finder, the `Library` folder might not be visible by default. To navigate there, open Finder and click Go > Go to Folder and search for "Library."

2. Rename the existing `emulator` directory in the SDK installation directory, because you'll unzip the newly downloaded `emulator` directory here in the next step. For example, call it `emulator_original`.
3. Unzip the emulator zip file you downloaded. Move the contents into the SDK installation directory.

4. On macOS: After unzipping the emulator zip file, clear the quarantine attribute on the emulator package by running:

xattr -dr com.apple.quarantine emulator/

This should reduce messages about whether the package should be checked or blocked.

5. Paste the `package.xml` file from the `emulator_original` directory into the new `emulator` directory.
6. Change the emulator version specified in the `package.xml` file to the version you have downloaded and want to use. To do this, scroll to the bottom of the `package.xml` file and find the text that looks like:

<revision><major>31</major><minor>1</minor><micro>4</micro></revision>

This is where you should specify the emulator version you downloaded and want to install.
